

Book Club 2021 - April Recommendation

If These Wings Could Fly by Kyrie McCauley

Domestic violence is scary. It is scary for those involved and it is scary for those on the outside who don't know how to help. Leighton lives for the next explosion and protects her sisters when they happen. She can't wait to go away to university. But, can she leave her sisters behind? Will she find the strength to save them all? She has it in her.

Domestic Violence Resources

Helpline for Children – 310-1234

VictimLinkBC – 1-800-563-0808 email: victimlinkbc@bc211.ca

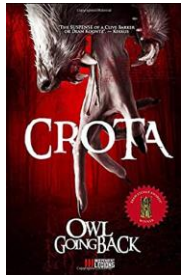

Amata Transition House – Hotline – 250-992-3385 or 250-992-7321

Email: amata.executive.director@gmail.com

Women's Resource Centre – 250-992-8472 email: qwrc@shawcable.com

Elizabeth Fry – 250-991-0992 email: bally@pgefry.bc.ca

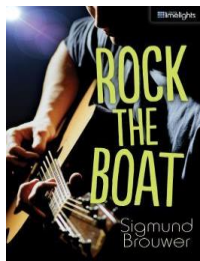

Indigenous Focus

Crota by Owl Goingback Warning – graphic gory scenes

If you like supernatural horror, you will like this one. This winner of the Bram Stoker Award is full of Indigenous folklore. The body count is rising in Hobbs County because the Crota has been awakened. It is going to take the practices of a medicine man to defeat this enemy.

Orca Books

Rock the Boat by Sigmund Brouwer

Webb moves to Nashville to follow his dreams of a music career. The music producer he is working with steals one of his songs. From this, Webb learns how cutthroat the music industry is. He needs to stand up for what is right and get justice. Being at the right place at the right time, knowing the right people, and determination will help him succeed.