Resolving Problems and Conflict at QJS

What do we do when there is a problem between students? The goal is to help students communicate with each other to ensure problems are resolved. These students may be in the same graduation class and will likely be together in the same school for the next 4-5 years. There is good reason to come to resolution so students can be comfortable together.

CONFLICT RESOLUTION STEPS

- 1-Students try to work it out peacefully on their own (successful, good work).
- 2-Problem still happening? Let family know, let us know. We will chat separately with students involved and help them talk with each other in a respectful, peaceful manner to come to agreements.
- 3-Problem still happening? Let family know, let us know. Facilitated mediation with counselor and/or Principals. Create plans for moving forward peacefully. If plans are broken, discipline may be necessary. The goal is to help students communicate with each other to ensure problems are resolved.
